KEYNOTE: EVY POUmpOURAS

Former Secret Service Special Agent and Interrogator & Co-Host of Bravo TV's "Spy xGames"

For more than 12 years, Evy Poumpouras served as a Secret Service special agent in an action-packed career during which she was responsible for protecting the world's most high-value assets. She was a member of the Presidential Protective Division for President Barack Obama and First Lady Michelle Obama, and also protected Presidents George W. Bush, Bill Clinton, and George H.W. Bush. Today, she is a widely recognized multimedia journalist, host, and producer who uses her skills in front of the camera and behind it to conduct headline-grabbing interviews and investigate the biggest stories in the media. She appears regularly on "TODAY," MSNBC, and "Good Morning America" to share her sought-after expertise on national security, law enforcement, and crime. In addition to her role as NBC's law enforcement and national security analyst, she is the host of Bravo TV's competition series "Spy Games." Having mastered the arts of communication and psychology in a wide-ranging career that has taken her from the Secret Service to the TV screen and everywhere in between, Poumpouras offers unconventional strategies for crushing any challenge and living life fearlessly.

Poumpouras has been described as "the epitome of a badass" as she brings a welcome edge to talks focused on looking inward to begin the journey to becoming your best self at work and beyond. Her positivity emanates from the stage and through to the audience as she reveals hard-won lessons on building a more confident and resilient mindset, communicating for maximum impact, and unleashing your inner fighter as you push past the obstacles on the path to success. Poumpouras shares thrilling anecdotes from her experiences in the Secret Service, offering a rare behind-the-curtain look at one of the oldest and elite security forces in the world, and showing audiences how they can apply Secret Service principles of communication, leadership, psychology, and inclusion in their own pursuits.

In addition to safeguarding our nation's heads of state, during her tenure in the Secret Service, Poumpouras worked complex criminal investigations, operated undercover, and was an interrogator for the agency's elite polygraph unit specially trained in the art of lie detection, human behavior, and cognitive influence. She was among the first responders during the 9/11 terror attacks on the World Trade Center and was honored with United States Secret Service Valor Award in recognition of her heroic efforts. In parallel to her work as a journalist and TV personality, Poumpouras is an adjunct professor for The City University of New York, where she teaches criminal justice and criminology.

Poumpouras' online interviews and her TEDx talk on "Words: Your Most Powerful Weapon" have drawn millions of views, and she has spoken worldwide in front of many of the world's top organizations, including NASDAQ, McKesson, United Technologies, Wells Fargo, and Corcoran Group. She is also the author of the bestselling book Becoming Bulletproof: Protect Yourself, Read People, Influence Situations, Live Fearlessly, in which she introduces unique and actionable strategies for influencing any situation and transforming yourself into a stronger, more confident, and more powerful person.

ABOUT SAN ANTONIO

History comes to life in San Antonio. The city's rich culture offers an authentic glimpse of early Spanish colonial life in the Southwest. As the first civilian settlement in Texas, San Antonio de Béxar was founded in 1718. Today, many of the city's early architectural and cultural elements remain, allowing visitors to see into the city's storied past first-hand. Our brave old world is your next, new adventure. Visit historical sites and landmarks with modern-day events, celebrations and fun. The River Walk, also known as Paseo del Rio, offers a mixture of rich Latin heritage and contemporary attractions, like the Botanical Gardens, IMAX Theater and the Tower of the Americas.

Sightseeing, shopping, food and fun. All on a world-renowned 15-mile urban waterway. The River Walk, or Paseo del Rio, is a San Antonio treasure and the largest urban ecosystem in the nation. Tucked quietly below street level and only steps from the Alamo, it provides a serene and pleasant way to navigate the city. Explore by foot along the river's walking path or jump aboard a river barge for a ride and guided tour. In the heart of downtown, explore nearby attractions like the Alamo, the King William Historic District and more. Or, shop local favorites along the river's Museum Reach at the historic Pearl. While at Pearl, dine and drink al fresco at our local food hall, The Bottling Dept. Further south, immerse yourself in history at our UNESCO World Heritage Site, the San Antonio Missions, along the Mission Reach. There's so much to do, see, eat and explore along the river. Join us. And, come see what we mean.

Speaker Bios

FRANK SKERL is the Vice President of Sales for Hamrick Packaging Systems. Frank has dedicated 30+ years in the industry to selling stand-alone packaging machinery as well as complete packaging systems with in-depth knowledge of both primary and secondary packaging. Frank's primary areas of focus include case erecting, case packing, case sealing, palletizing, and stretch wrapping. Building long term relationships with clients and understanding their specific needs are what he enjoys most in his packaging career.

MATTHEW RUSSELL is the Director of Retail at the Auburn University RFID Lab, a research institute focused on the business case, performance, and quality of RFID technologies. Having been with the Lab since 2018, he has supported many of the world's most recognizable brands and retailers, including Walmart, Nordstrom, and DSG. Matthew spends his time interfacing with retailers, suppliers, packaging providers and the 100+ students and faculty of the RFID Lab to ensure successful and effective deployments of RFID across the retail industry.

PAUL RANKIN has been President of the Reusable Industrial Packaging Association since 1990. RIPA represents approximately 80 companies that recondition, manufacture and distribute industrial shipping containers, or which supply materials and expertise to these firms. Member companies annually recondition about 25 million steel drums; 4 – 6 million plastic drums; 5 – 8 million fiber drums; and nearly 7 million intermediate bulk containers.

Mr. Rankin is actively involved in national and international legislative, standards-setting and regulatory activities. He has testified before U.S. Congressional Committees on numerous occasions, and works with federal regulatory agencies on transportation, environmental, sustainability and worker safety issues.

MELANIE MATHEWS is an accomplished human resources executive with over 30 years of experience in driving strategic HR initiatives across diverse sectors, including healthcare and corporate energy environments. Currently serving as Vice President of Human Resources for Martin Resource Management Corporation, she oversees a substantial payroll for nearly 2,000 employees across 28 states, including administration of the health, welfare and financial employee benefit programs. Known for her ability to navigate complex regulatory landscapes, Melanie has successfully designed and implemented cost-effective medical plans, achieving significant savings while ensuring compliance with ERISA and labor laws.

Throughout her career, Melanie has demonstrated exceptional leadership in managing HR functions related to acquisitions and divestitures, as well as negotiating labor union agreements. Her commitment to fostering a positive workplace culture and enhancing employee engagement has led to successful recruitment strategies and recognition for best practices in employee relations.

JEFFREY L. LEITER is a shareholder in the Washington, DC law firm of Bassman, Mitchell, Alfano & Leiter, Chtd.
